What is \textbf{Cura Personalis}?

\textbf{Cura Personalis} (latin for “care of the whole person”) is a living-learning community that allows freshmen to live out St. Ignatius’ call to “go out and set the world on fire!” Based in Jesuit teachings, the program’s core stands upon three pillars: justice, service and faith. For individuals who possess openness to personal growth, CP develops your knowledge in these three areas by having you take your required Theology I course with other CP students. Cura Personalis also provides residence hall programming through our “CP Council,” composed of the building’s residents and guided by three Resident Assistants. CP Council allows you, the resident, to enhance what you’re learning in the classroom by determining the justice, service and faith-based programs you want to create and participate in during your freshmen year. Scranton will be your home, let CP become your family!

\textbf{Justice} \\
Through participation in various on and off campus events, members of Cura Personalis rise to the challenge of addressing global, national, and local injustices. Members strive to live out the Jesuit ideal of men and women for and with others.

\textbf{Service} \\
The University of Scranton empowers students to become educated about the world around them through the act of service. Cura Personalis supports this ideal by organizing events that encourage members to reach out and touch the lives of others while enriching their own lives in the process.

\textbf{Faith} \\
Cura Personalis embraces all faiths and challenges participants to deepen their beliefs and to develop a set of moral values through activities like meditations, reflections, service, and retreats. A retreat specifically for Cura Personalis gives students the opportunity to reflect on all three pillars of the program.

\textbf{Goals:} \\
- To educate students in Ignatian ideals and way of life through interactive, out-of-the-classroom, educational opportunities \\
- To create a community which works for justice locally, domestically and globally \\
- To provide opportunities for reflection and sharing within a communal environment

"Cura Personalis has not only brought me a wonderful group of friends that I can call my family, but it strengthened my ideas of justice, service and faith right when I was starting to lose touch with them.”
